It is said that a poet is one who hears God's whisper and wakes up.

Merle's love of these poets has infused her life. She kneads Rumi into her sourdough loaves; she digs Hafiz into her cabbages; she sprinkles Kabir into her face cream and he rests in her wrinkles.

The inspiration of their enduring wisdom has taken her on a teaching journey around the world for the past 20 years.

Feel invited to share this journey with her in this upcoming workshop.

I wish I could hear their beautiful voices every day. I have experienced awareness of my longings, through what you have shared.
